

This Day is Published,

No. I.

PRICE SIXPENCE,

(TO BE CONTINUED WEEKLY)

OF THE

HOLY BIBLE,

CONTAINING

THE SACRED TEXT

OF THE

OLD AND NEW TESTAMENT

AT LARGE.

WITH EXPLANATORY NOTES ON THE MOST INTERESTING PASSAGES.

BY THE

REV. HENRY COX MASON, M. A.

Morning Preacher and Lecturer of St. Mary Magdalen, Bermondsey; and Chaplain to the Rt. Hon. Lord Onslow.

CONDITIONS.

- I. That this Work shall be printed in Quarto, on fine Royal Paper made for this purpose.
- II. That the Print shall be elegant; new Types having been cast on purpose, by Mr. Caſlon.
- III. That the Work shall be fully completed in 70 Numbers, at Sixpence each; but if it should unavoidably exceed that quantity, the overplus shall be given gratis, so that this valuable Edition of the Holy Scriptures with Notes, may be had at the very moderate price of 1l. 15s.
- IV. That every succeeding Number shall be as well executed as the first, both as to Paper and Print, and that a Number shall be regularly published every Saturday till the whole is finished.

Also, this Day is Published (PRICE ONE SHILLING),

No. I.

Of the same Work, printed on the best wove Super-Royal Paper, Hot-pressed, to be also continued weekly, and completed in 70 Numbers, which will be one of the most elegant Editions of the Bible in the English Language.

The whole of the Old Testament and a part of the New being already printed, such persons as prefer taking two or three Numbers weekly, may be assured of being supplied regularly till the whole is finished.

L O N D O N:

PRINTED FOR V. GRIFFITHS, NO. 1, PATERNOSTER-ROW;
And sold by all Booksellers and News-carriers in the Kingdom.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE Scriptures are the grand instrument, in the hand of God, for the recovery of Mankind; and are profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, and for instruction in righteousness. To the light of divine revelation we are indebted for every ray of true knowledge respecting God, ourselves and futurity. The dark conjectures of fancy are in the Sacred Pages exchanged for a hope full of immortality; and Man, who in himself is a blind and erring creature, having the eyes of his understanding illuminated, and his heart affected, by means of the Divine Word, is instructed in the worship of the one living and true God, becomes a useful member of society, and is made meet to be a partaker of the inheritance of the saints in light.

Every attempt therefore to encourage the reading of the Bible, it is presumed, will obtain a favourable reception from the Christian Reader. In point of usefulness, it would appear invidious to attempt to compare the present design with the many Commentaries which have already appeared under very respectable names—names which have been long known and honoured in the Christian world.

To many a long Commentary is wholly useless: Being prejudiced against its length, they seldom or never read it.

Others prefer reading the Holy Scriptures with only such Notes as are absolutely necessary to elucidate the difficult passages, which otherwise would remain unintelligible. To Readers of either description, it is hoped, this Work will recommend itself. The superior beauty of the Paper and Print, with the size and clearness of the Type, will render it highly acceptable to persons who feel objections to crowded, common Printing—and it must, in the estimation of every person, be acknowledged a handsome, elegant Bible, suitable either for the Family or the Closet: And when read in either, may it please God to bless it, to all the purposes for which he has been pleased to reveal it.

- BERMONDSEY,
December 22d, 1798.

H. C. MASON.